

mail order ripoffs

Posted by - 04 Apr 2008 13:29

this seems to be the forum to post reports of mail order ripoffs because growing mushrooms is where someone is most likely to get ripped off and yes I did get ripped off just because you didn't get ripped off by this guy doesn't mean I didn't get ripped off

I sent my money to spores101.com in February and haven't gotten my spores

I emailed this guy and was told that they were shipped the first time the second time I emailed this guy I was accused of trying to rip hem off he may not be a flat out rip off BUT if there is any problems with shipments from hem you will be shit out of luck

he will not make any efforts to make things good

Spore101.com is one of the most highly reputable spore vendors out, and is a sponsor to many big mushroom communities around so sounds like you got unlucky. They have been always very helpful on delays, and have in many cases had free spore syringes given in orders for no reason as well.

Sorry to hear about your bad luck, but they do help with delayed and lost shipment.

that not the story I get from all but his forum the story I get from the admens at ALL BUT his forum is that he is the worst ripoff there ever was

and

all anyone ever got from hem when reporting a problem with his scam was verbal abuse

and

his spores are bunk full of contams or dead as a matter of fact none of the mushroom forums will allow hem to sponsor them they will not even tack his money and haven baned hem as a user how much did he pay you to defend hem ?

There was a time spores101 was great. Shroomery.com keeps up with their vendors/sponsors pretty well....and due to the rip off's and bad customer service...they are no longer allowed to be a shroomery sponsor....I think this says a lot.

Thank you! I had considered ordering from that site but now I will make another choice. I was concerned about the lack of variety on there so I had been waiting and researching. Thank goodness I did!

actually the were removed for using mushroom images that other sites had in usage or copyrighted somethin or other. There are even posts saying there was no bad blood, but thats how things ended, no more sponsership.

Spores101 is a great place in my experience, even recent.

I've also done sporeworks, thegoodspore, and a few other randoms, There are rip-off companies out there, but I'm sorry I don't agree that Spores101 is one of those companies.
